Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Bulletin of the American Ceramic Society, 1923, Vol. 2: A Monthly Publication Devoted to Proceedings of the Society, Discussions of Plant Problems, Discussions of Technical and Scientific Questions and Promotion of Cooperative Research Mr. A. V. Bleiningner outlined a program of activities in September, 1921, which seems to us to be well worth adopting for 1923. If those to whom his recommendation makes an appeal will collaborate with the executives and committees there is no reason why a considerable portion, if not all of this program, can not be realized. 1. The work of certain committees should be pushed very vigorously immediately. I am referring particularly to the Committee on Standards. No more important work could be undertaken than the standardization, through specifications, of the principal raw materials, such as flint, feldspar, ball clays, sagger clays, etc. Certain misconceptions as to the functions of these materials cause a continuous loss which could be readily stopped. A modern classification of clays, based entirely upon their physical properties, is urgently needed. 2. Steps should be taken also to compile the information already available for use. A large amount of data is scattered through our Transactions and various Journals which should be brought together in the form of a handbook, like the Sprechsaal Kalender, but much larger, more complete and better all around. The book might be divided into two parts, one dealing with general information and the other with specific industries. The former could be prepared by assigning different subjects to men well qualified to handle them. The industrial topics could be turned over to the Divisions who would be best qualified to include the material most valuable and to arrange it...
