Excerpt from International Library of Technology: A Series of Textbooks for Persons Engaged in the Engineering Profession and Trades or for Those Who Desire Information Concerning Them, Fully Illustrated and Containing Numerous Practical Examples and Their Solutions This volume treats of the constructive details of modern architectural buildings. Besides the artistic elements in building design, the structure must be planned with refer ence to mechanical considerations. The excavation must be made in an economic and secure manner, the foundations must be properly placed, and the superstructure, whether of wood or masonry, must be properly designed. How this work is laid out and executed is the subject of this volume. The details of joinery, which are the cause of the greatest number of errors in building construction. Are explained in a practical manner and fully illustrated. The last part of the volume is intended exclusively for the mechanic. It deals with the steel square, the tool of mystery to many a car penter, and shows how simple and easy of application it really is. The method of numbering the pages. Cuts. Articles, etc. Is...
