CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Condition: New. Marybeth Adkins (illustrator). This item is printed on demand. 64 pages. Dimensions: 11.0in. x 8.5in. x 0.2in. Follymops is a Cavalier King Charles spaniel who lives in a restored 17th century hunting lodge in the south of France. Mini-Follymops, who tells her story in this book, lives in a miniature chateau built by Suze Perry-Hinkle, modeled on the actual Chateau Bidaine. This architectural miniature is meticulously appointed and full of fantastic details that will delight and engage miniature-lovers, dollhouse enthusiasts, Cavalier King Charles spaniel fans, and artists both young and young-at-heart. Color illustrations accompany the 27 sketches to color in this Collectors color edition on upgraded paper stock. Storybook captions show Follymops and her friends around the estate, telling a little bit of the story of the actual owners as well as indulging mini-Follymops imagination. Not just simple line drawings, these sketches are made from detailed photographs of the miniature building, and retain some of the original shading and textures. The result is an enchanting coloring experience for older children and adults alike, especially beautiful when colored pencils are used. This book is recommended for ages 8 and up, but we have found detail-oriented 6 and 7-year-olds enjoying this book when they thought no one was looking. This is a revision of the previously published Le Chateau Bidaine (also available on Amazon). Follymops is in English, whereas the Chateau Bidaine is bilingual English/French. Some of the sketches here have been simplified, and this story is told through Follymops eyes. Volume 1 of this series (same title) is less expensive and has black and white pages only, with 39 sketches-to-color and some additional blank pages in the back of the book.
